It may not be good cotton weather, but mankind thrives on it.

The hammer is busy in Ardmore, but it's not the tool of the knacker.

If Col. Goethals can live seven years in the Canal Zone, it seems reasonable to presume that he never will die after coming back to the states.

Americans in Mexico have been given long prison sentences on a charge of counterfeiting. Carranza dollars are worth 5c, and Americans are not handling a business as cheap as that.

If a jitneur is a man who drives a jitney a woman driver should be called a jitneass. In Dallas, a jitneass has sued the street railway company for hitting her jitney when it skid and lay broadside across the tracks of the car company. All persons will take note that it is a dangerous procedure to hit a woman's jitney.

ENGLISH IN RUSSIAN SCHOOLS.
One marked result of the war is to be the introduction of the English language in the common schools of Russia.

Hitherto German has been the tongue taught in these schools as the medium to facilitate commercial intercourse with other countries. Russian merchants and traders who spoke German always found it easy to make themselves understood in the markets of the continent.

But a recent conference of the school authorities with the minister of finance and other high authorities resulted in a decision to substitute English for German, and make the study compulsory. Of course, this is only a way to show national opposition to Germany, but the result will be to broaden the use of our language and make it more cosmopolitan than it now is, and thus, from our standpoint, is a distinct progression. Very few Americans will ever learn Russian, because of its difficulties of spelling and pronunciation, but it will be another matter for Russians to learn English.

The expulsion of the German language from the schools has its own significance of deep-seated resentment but the choice of English in its stead is wise from many viewpoints, and certainly it is gratifying to our national pride as well as to that of England. Many Russians come to us as immigrants, and if the next generations come speaking our language, national assimilation will not be so difficult.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

DEATH OF JUDGE NIXON

Abilene Man Was Well Known in Ardmore Lived Here Several Years

News of the death of Judge W. T. Nixon, which occurred at Abilene, Texas, reached here yesterday. For a number of years Judge and Mrs. Nixon resided in this city. He was a fine type of the southern man and in his death the country loses a good citizen. He was always a close student, he had a storehouse of information, he was kind to childhood, and while the family resided here, Judge Nixon claimed many close friends among children. His death is a matter of general regret in Ardmore. Mrs. Nixon taught a private school here for several years and she was exceptionally successful in her work. The Abilene Daily Reporter gave the following account of his death:

Rev. William Thomas Nixon, aged 62 years, died Monday night at Anna Hall, Abilene, Texas, from stomach trouble after an illness of five weeks. The funeral will occur at 4:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. T. S. Knox, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Interment will be made in the city cemetery.

The deceased moved to Abilene about two years ago from Baird, Texas. He is survived by a wife who is a sister of Mrs. J. D. Sandefor. He was educated for the ministry and served as pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Lawrenceburg, Tennessee a number of years. He gave up the ministry to enter the practice of law and also edited the Lawrence Democrat successfully for a number of years. He was widely known in Tennessee as a writer on sporting topics, particularly topics interesting to anglers. His father, Col. Nixon, was chancellor judge in Middle Tennessee for a number of years. Col. Nixon was colonel of the 20th Tennessee Cavalry, a strong arm of General Nathan Bedford Forrest's cavalry, and fought in many brilliant battles. For many years he was regarded as the first citizen of Lawrenceburg, Maury, and other Middle Tennessee counties, and his son inherited many of his excellent traits of character.

Up until his last illness, Rev. Mr. Nixon was engaged in the jewelry business at the Corner Drug Store here. He was well known among the Tennessee contingent of Taylor county and was held in the highest esteem by them.—Abilene (Tex.) Daily Reporter.

CANADA'S WAR SPIRIT IS UNSHAKEN

BOYS OF NORTH COUNTRY ARE EAGER TO VOLUNTEER FOR
KING AND COUNTRY, SAYS ARD-MORE MAN.

A. J. Hemstreet has returned from Edmonton, Canada, where he spent several months looking after his business matters there. He and his associates operate a biscuit factory, and have done well since the opening of the factory.

In speaking of Canada and the war Mr. Hemstreet says the Canadians feel confident that victory will be with the mother country in the end. When the Lusitania was sunk, they expected a declaration of war on the part of the states, and when that was not done, they were somewhat disappointed for a time. Canada's quota of the troops is a half million, and there has been no trouble in getting volunteers. Young men wired from 300 miles away, asking that places be held for them until they could arrive. He estimates that 25,000 soldiers have gone from Alberta and the adjoining province, and Edmonton has 2,500 men under training now and Calgary has 6,000 men under training.

The Princess Pat's regiment, of Toronto, which was said to have been the crack regiment of the Dominion, went to the front in the early part of the war and reports received state that only twelve of the Pat's survive. It seems that the Canadians were forced to bear the brunt of the fighting where poisonous gases were used by the Germans, and the slaughter of men was terrific.

Mrs. Hemstreet and the children are in Omaha and they will come south within a few days.

PREPARE FOR A LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

AT MEETING OF TRADES COUNCIL
TONIGHT DEFINITE STEPS FOR CELEBRATION HERE ON SEPT. 6 WILL BE TAKEN.

At the meeting of the Ardmore trades council tonight, definite steps will be taken toward a Labor Day celebration in this city. The labor organizations of the city have had no Labor Day celebration here for several years, and inasmuch as Ardmore's anniversary was not celebrated this year, (neither was July 4)—it is believed that a successful picnic can be pulled off.

It is planned to have a big Labor Day parade with a picnic and barbecue at either Lorena or Whittington parks.

Several merchants of the city have already given assurance of financial help, and the teamsters' union of the city has headed the list for the labor organizations by appropriating $25 for the celebration. Equal contributions can be expected from the other crafts, assuring a nice fund for the Labor Day celebration.

The carpenters and clerks' locals have recently become affiliated with the trades council and these two, being among the oldest and strongest in the city, will add to the trades council and make it one of the strongest in the state. All organized locals here are now affiliated with the trades council except the painters, electricians, and general laborers. The plumbers of the city have not yet completed their organization, although they are working under union conditions.

Local union labor officials plan the early organization of the laundry workers, chauffeurs and waiters of the city, and probably the cigar makers and blacksmiths' locals.

The Clerk Guaranteed It.

"A customer came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks, 'have you anything that will cure diarrhea?' and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, 'if this does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it.' So he took it home and came back in a day or two and said he was cured," writes J. H. Berry & Co., Salt Creek, Va. Obtainable everywhere.

STATEMENT FROM SUPREME COURT CLERK

FRANKLIN SAYS ALL HE ASKS
IS WHAT THE LAW PROVIDES FOR—NO FEAR OF GOVERNOR'S THREAT.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 12.—Gubernatorial fanfare and the shouting, "I am the state," have little effect upon W. M. Franklin, clerk of the supreme court of the state of Oklahoma, who holds fast to the belief that government in this country is handled by three co-ordinate branches and that one department is not dependent upon the will of another.

Relative to the governor's statement of yesterday, that an attorney advised he could discharge the employees in Franklin's office and himself appoint their successors, Franklin said he was not in the least apprehensive, and in this he appears to be fortified behind the law.

Franklin this morning issued this statement:

"Since the governor has rushed into print again, with reference to this department, I wish to say that I notice that it is claimed that some attorney (?) has discovered that the governor can appoint the help for this department, and that there is a veiled threat that he will assume such power. The governor has no such power, and he cannot, by force or threats, after I have refused to give my consent, appoint the force for this department. I do not want as cheap help for this department as the advice of the aforesaid attorney (?) is worthless. If the governor has the legal right to appoint the help for this department, he has the same right to appoint help in most of the other departments. True, in the creation of additional positions in some of the departments by the last legislature, the help is allowed with the governor's approval.

"This department is connected with the judicial department of this state, and our constitution provides that 'the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of government shall be separate and distinct, and neither shall exercise the powers properly belonging to either of the other.' Also, the law provides that 'all claims and accounts against the state shall be itemized and sworn to as true and correct, and shall bear the approval of the officer or officers in charge of the department before being audited.' I certainly would not approve an illegal claim of an appointee of the governor. If the governor has the power to appoint help for this department, he can determine the expenditures for supplies for this and other departments in this state for the law in this regard is no more definite than it is for the help.

"I have not demanded an increase of help or salaries over what the law provides for, although the work of the office has more than doubled, and is of such a character as to demand a higher degree of efficiency than is required of the clerk in the governor's office, who receives $1,800 per year, and served as law clerk to the governor while he was on the bench at $1,200 a year. Of course, the governor did not mention the fact that he has a higher salaried man in his office. I do not say they are not worth what is being paid them. Also, in some of the other departments there are a number of employees who receive as much or more than those in this office receive. True, a few salaries have been cut down in the school land department, and that fact is frequently mentioned by the governor, but he cannot deny that the number of employees in that department have been increased and that some of the salaries and the number of employees in some of the other departments have been increased with his approval. In fact, the state needs the services of those who are worth reasonable salaries. There has been greater leaks from dishonesty than there is loss on account of living salaries.

"The fact is the employees in this department are not receiving high salaries when the same is compared with salaries received in other departments, and the character of the work is considered. Life, liberty and property are involved, and some legal knowledge is required of those in the office, if good service is rendered. One good employee can do more in this department than two cheap ones. "In the interest of all the departments and the people of this state, I will resist any unwarranted assumption of power on the part of the governor so far as this office is concerned.

"I invited the members of the legislature to call on me for any information, and to investigate the needs of this department. I am glad that the members of the bar realize that the public interest is involved and that they are taking steps to see where the fault lies, and what can be done to relieve the situation, which makes the public the real sufferer."
